"For the team's work area, we deliberately sought an open plan design. Trojan Horse put together a concept that allows for easy communication across our desks, but also with plenty of communal space including teleconference rooms and a great break-out area.

Feedback on the final product has been overwhelmingly positive, from both our clients and the team. While we had fairly firm views on what we wanted, we were delighted with the way Trojan Horse was able to bring these to life, at the same time adding the finishing touches that expertise brings."
