" When this rapidly expanding listed company required additional space, the selected tenancy came with a 20 year old existing fit-out that was dark and uninviting.

Through careful space planning, existing perimeter full height partitioning elements were retained and reinvented, while a collaborative work area was created in the central space via the use of low height fabric covered screens dividing large workstations.

Opening up of the space allowed new base building finishes to be installed while enhanced meeting rooms and staff amenities areas ensure team groups can interact in a professional manner.

Extensive use of the fresh corporate colour has put a stamp of ownership on the space, generating a working environment more in tune with the aspirations of this developing company. "
